

Mid-Atlantic Construction Announces Best of 2009 Winners

VCU project honored as region's overall best

WASHINGTON, DC – Mid-Atlantic Construction Magazine announced the winners of its Best of 2009 awards program today. After deliberation over a record number of entries, an independent jury selected The Walter L. Rice Education Builder at the VCU Inger & Walter Rice Center for Environmental Life Sciences in Charles City, VA., as the region's Overall Project of the Year.

“This Selection proves that great things can come in small packages,” said Bruce Buckley, editor of the Mid-Atlantic Construction, about the $2.8-million 4,890-sq-ft winning project. “Our jury reviewed a record number of entries—including several megaprojects—and The Walter L. Rice Educational Building rose above the rest in the eyes of our jurors.”
